

WHITE COLLAR ATTORNEY

Hodgson Russ LLP seeks an attorney with 7+ years of experience in state or federal government enforcement, white collar, or criminal/regulatory defense to join its Business Crimes & Criminal Investigations and Tax Investigations and Defense teams in its New York City office. Candidates should possess relevant experience handling matters involving complex financial and/or tax crimes, conducting internal investigations, responding to government inquiries, litigating and negotiating with criminal or civil authorities and/or assisting with complex commercial litigation issues. Preferred candidates will have at least 3 years' experience working as a federal or state prosecutor. Entrepreneurial attorneys looking to join a full-service firm with national and regional clients will find an excellent platform for both extending their client base and servicing their existing clients.
